PROJECT YES!

Oils Simmons, Children's Services Coordinator

1850 Fairway Drive ~ San Leandro, CA 94577 ~ (510) 667-4487

- To collaborate with Alameda County's diverse youth to create a Center that facilitates youth leadership and contributes to the healthy and sustainable development of the community by fostering self-development and positive peer and adult relationships
- As an answer to violence – To lay groundwork for a youth driven community revitalization movement that will reduce violence, increase educational attainment, and expand career options for Alameda County youth and young adults. Central to that is the conversion of large vacant, County-owned facility in East Oakland into a comprehensive youth empowerment center

TARGETED GOALS

This is a working project's goal is build a youth (ages 13-23) movement by nurturing the talents and skills of individual youth involved in the planning process and harnessing the power of Alameda County's nationally – recognized youth development organization. Through these partnerships, Project YES! Is (a) building a core constituency for the Center; (b) laying the foundation for a sustainable youth movement towards community change

TARGETED OUTCOMES/IMPROVEMENTS

- Reduction of homicide
- Reduction of hospital admissions due to assault
- Reduction of AIDS leading to death
- Reduction of Castlemont High School's drop out rate
- Reduce the number of Castlemont students' in the legal system
- Reduce teen pregnancy
- Reduce child abuse

DRAFT

PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT
Arnold Perkins, Director
1000 Broadway, Suite 500 ~ Oakland, CA 94607 ~ (510) 267-8000

Community Assessment, Planning and Education Unit (CAPE)

Sandra Witt & 267-8018

- Monitor, analyze and report health information to the community.
- To build a reliable data resource infrastructure for public health planning, program and policy development.
- Specifically regarding violence: To create, a violent injury surveillance system in conjunction with EMS Division

The Alameda County Violent Injury Reporting System will track all fatal and non-fatal intentional injuries in Alameda County. Information on the multiple factors that lead to violent deaths and injuries will assist in the planning and evaluation of programs and policies to reduce violence in Alameda County. Key collaborators include Coroners office, Trauma Centers, and Police Departments. Project will begin with fatal intentional injury deaths in the City of Oakland and expand to include other cities and non-fatal violent injuries.

Emergency Medical Services Division (EMS)

Cindy Abbissinio (510) 618-2050

- Collects data from the Coroner on all deaths and collects data from hospital trauma center on all trauma incidents
- Funds injury prevention coordinators at each of the local trauma centers

In conjunction with CAPE's project (as mentioned above), EMS is gathering information from the coroner's office for years 2002 and forward. The intent of forming this database is to assist Alameda County policy makers and violence prevention programs to develop and/or improve programs to prevent violent injuries by providing more in depth information.
